THE PEARL BUTTON & CLAMMING INDUSTRY!

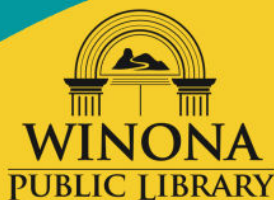

'Clamming' was a major industry along the Mississippi River from 1890 through the 1920s and beyond. Fortunes were made by taking 'clams', actually freshwater mussels, out of the river and making buttons out of the shells. Taking on the role of a clammer's wife, Terry will share this fascinating industry's story. Free and open to the public. Refreshments provided by Sandbar Storytelling Festival.
